

A/Prof Uwais Mohamed

MBBS FRACP FCSANZ

Cardiologist and Electrophysiologist

A/Prof Mohamed offers treatment in both public and private hospitals. He started the Electrophysiology Laboratory at St Vincent's Private Hospital in 2009 which has now grown to a centre which undertakes complex ablation.

Wes' achievements in the field of cardiovascular research are reflected by numerous international and national invitations to speak in in several scientific papers published in refereed journals. His main areas of interest are: arrhythmia management and novel devices used to manage bradyarrhythmias. In particular Wes has a strong interest in the decision making process of patients with reduced ventricular function and the choice of device therapy. We has introduced clinical practice guidelines to the Northern Hospital and run a clinical trials program dedicated to novel device trials.

Wes continues to mentor other electrophysiologists in this ever-evolving space. His passion for teaching sees him lecture medical students through the University of Melbourne and future Specialist Fellows through the Royal College of Physicians.

Wes is affiliated with several professional associations including the Royal College of Physicians of Australia, the Heart Rhythm Society and the Cardiac Society of Australia and New Zealand.
